

Letter of recommendation

"Idéforum Utbildning – Good Decision" is a fast growing company regarding business development in Sweden, Scandinavia. Making the employees feel more confident by having faith not only in their personal values and vision but also in the company. In the long run, this will not only be beneficial for the person him/herself, but also making the company itself more successful, as the employees finds strength and guidance in the structure.

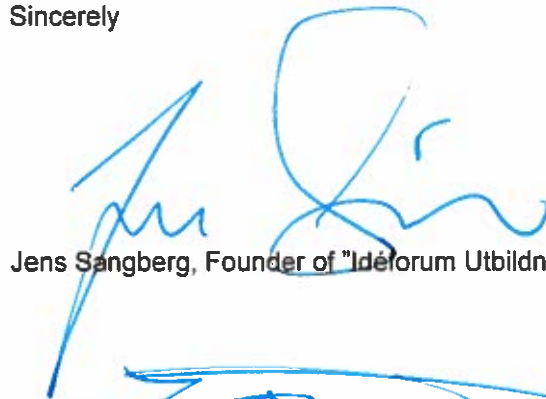

Founder of "Idéforum Utbildning – Good Decision" in 1993 is Jens Sangberg. During a conversation with a client, Jens asked the most obvious question: "What do you want your employees to do?" in frustration his client replied: "I want them to make Good Decision!"

From 25th June 2014 – November 30th 2015, David Asplund has been recruited for his ability to engage people in dialog that increases self-confidence and self-esteem. He has received positive feedback from students, teachers, parents and principles for his work regarding youth development, due to his passion and dedication to prevent bullying in schools.

But it is not only in schools where David has contributed, as he has successfully helped companies and counties execute on their action-plans as well as implementing company values to their employees.

We would like to recommend David to whichever school or organization he decides to work with in the United States, as we are sure that he will keep contributing with hope to achieve a future world with more confident people.

Sincerely

Jens Sangberg, Founder of "Idéforum Utbildning – Good Decision"
